

Learn to Write by Writing

Tauranga Writers encourages members to grab, with both hands, every opportunity to write that is on offer and to learn the disciplines of writing. Below are some suggestions:

- National competitions teach the three good habits of professional writers
 - 1) writing to a length
 - 2) a theme
 - 3) a deadline.
- Byline is TW's annual anthology of members' writing.
- Freelance magazine - covers a range of creative writing.
- Writers can put up their own poetry and prose on the Tauranga Writers kete.
- Write reviews or contribute to ArtBop News.
- Newspaper Letters to the Editor can refine your writing skills. So don't ever forget this important fact: writers write!
